

Sandy and Bill Kassimir moved to Jericho with their daughter, Joanne, in 1960, followed shortly by Sandy's parents, Fay and Lou Staub. They joined the Jericho Jewish Center in 1963. Subsequently, Owen and Gary rounded out the family. Joanne and Gary celebrated their B'nai Mitzvot at JJC while Owen celebrated his Bar Mitzvah at the Kotel in Jerusalem.

Sandy is a member of the Jericho Jewish Center Sisterhood and a regular Torah Fund supporter. She has arranged programs demonstrating calligraphy and jewelry beading. She is also a member of ORT's Region Board having served as President of Jericho ORT who honored her as ORT Woman of the Year.

Sandy and Bill have been married for 61 years. They support the temple in many ways. Bill is a past President of the Jericho Jewish Center and Sandy does the calligraphy on the special occasion certificates that are presented to congregants for baby namings, and Bar and Bat Mitzvah celebrants. They are regular attendees at Shabbat and Yom Tov services.

Sandy is an artist and avid oil painter. Her paintings were exhibited at the Town of Oyster Bay rotating art show. She has also established her own calligraphy and invitation business. One of her hobbies is creative writing. She recently published her memoir of short stories titled, "Reminiscing Through the Years."

Sandy is humbled to be chosen as Torah Fund Woman of Achievement, and thanks Torah Fund chairs Evelyn Rubin and Judy Solomon for selecting her.
